RIDDLE OF THE WEEK

A very important man is about to take a trip to Iceland. He is awoken in the middle of the night by his security guard the night before he is supposed to leave. His guard tells him he needs to take a boat rather than a plane, because he just dreamt that the plane was going to crash. The guard leaves because it's the end of his shift.

The man listens to his guard and takes a boat. Soon after arriving in Iceland he hears that the plane he was supposed to go on crashed. When he arrives home he fires his guard.

STORY OF THE WEEK

In the early years of the nesius of the Rebbe, one of the elder Chassidim of Eretz Yisroel once asked the Rashag what he thinks about the Rebbe. He responded with the following:

'Often, my brother in law is asked a question, and he says he needs to ask the shver. When he returns from the ohel, he then communicates an answer, saying that it's from the shver.

Now, whatever you may say about my brother in law, one thing is clear to me, and that is that he is not a liar. If he says that he received a response from the shver, then without a doubt that is exactly what took place. I know for myself that I am incapable of receiving responses from the shver these days. If he is able to do so, then that is enough for me to be his chosid'

TRIVIA QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK

How can we name a Parsha Korach, when the torah instructs us: “Shem Reshaim Yirkav” that the name of sinners should rot, with everybody saying Korach all the time, it seems to do the opposite?

The first one to come to Rabbi Eli with the answer by the Kiddush Will get something special—if you try to tell Rabbi Eli the answer beforehand, you will be disqualified.
